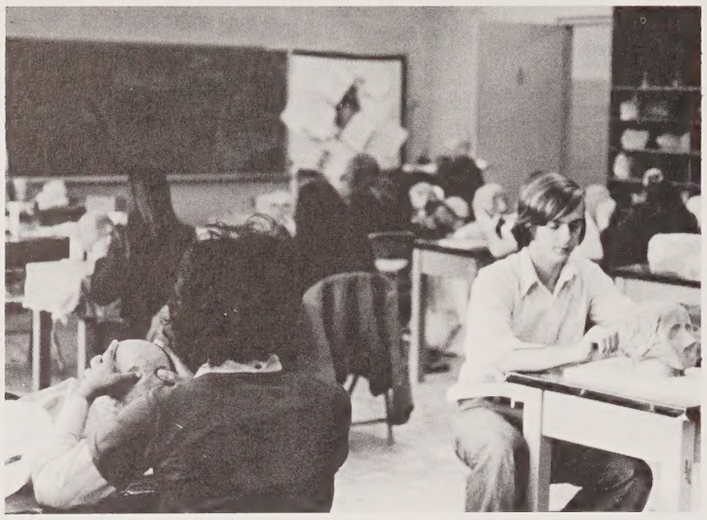
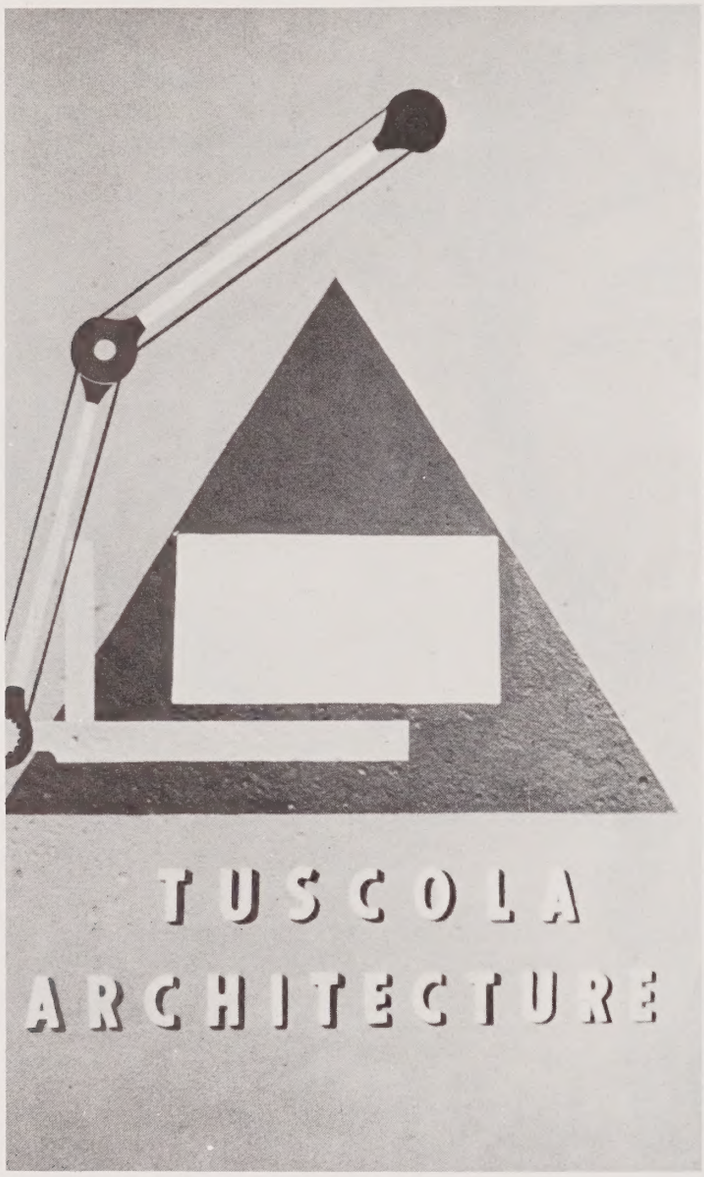
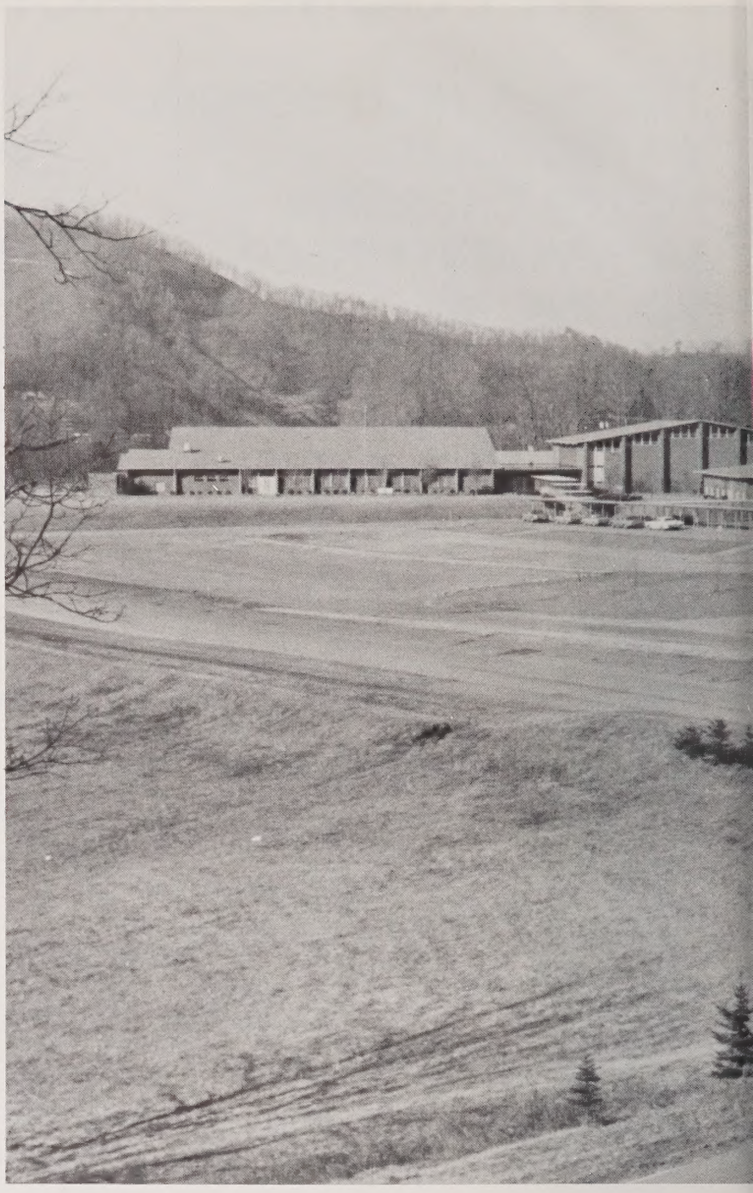
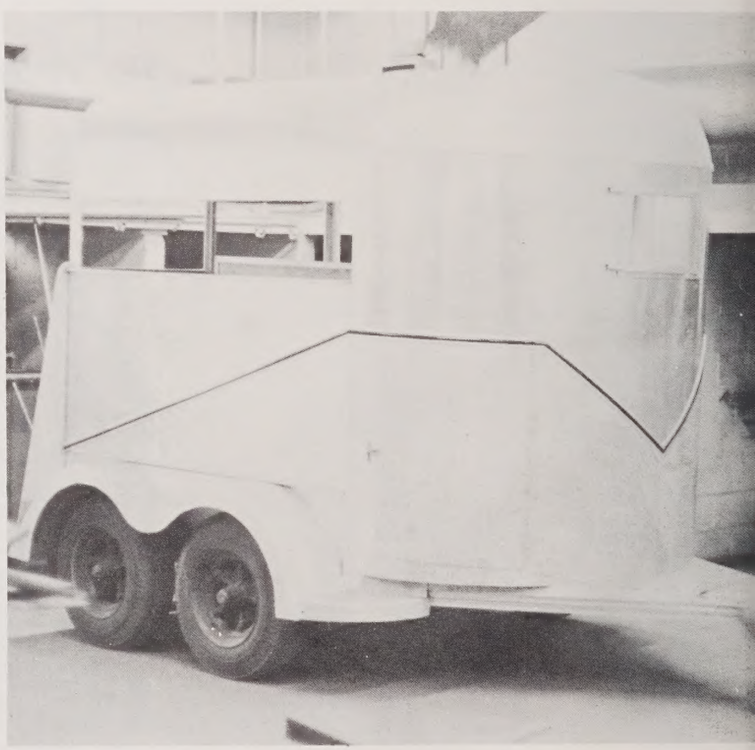
VOLUME IX

TO THE SHOW THAT NEVER ENDS

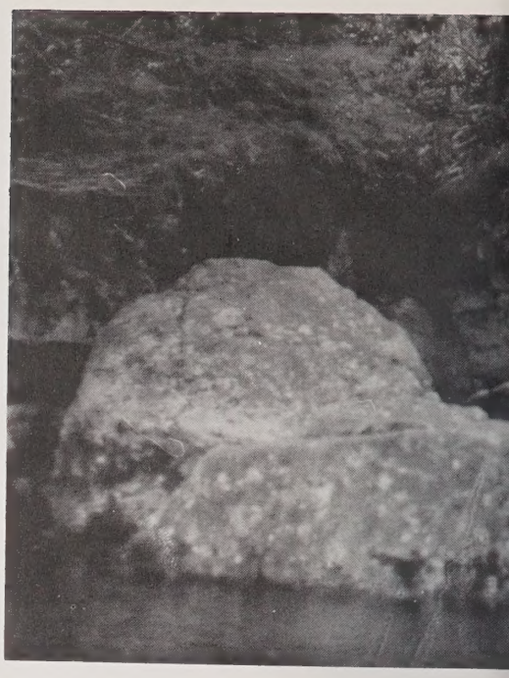








stereo



Definition: (ster'e.o) solid; When speaking of stereo equipment, it involves a receiver and speakers. To students, it relates the school as the receiver and books and extra-curricular activities as the speakers. We clarify this by bringing in "Both Sides Now." Tuscola is the output of our vitality. Here we study with books and have enjoyment with EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES. Both are essential to produce a solid and sound student.

QUAD

QUAD: (kwod) A plane or element having four parts. The four key elements that make up Tuscola High School, are spirit, maturity, devotion, and unity. These make our school tops in all respects. We, the students, have the spirit that keeps all of our activities going. The devotion, that is kept, leads us all to winning victories with great success, and pulls us through even the agonies of defeat. Through maturity, we have reached liberties that many schools have not achieved. Oneness is what schools have to have in order to produce a great institution. Tuscola High can proudly say that they are able to maintain a constant oneness. Through the students, faculty and administration, and student government, Tuscola can stand on a high pedistal and say, "Tuscola is #1."

MY GIRL BILL

Every year the FTA sponsors the debut of some of Tuscola's loveliest. The Junior Mess is similar to the county's Junior Miss except the first requirement of the Junior Mess contestants is to be male.

Upon considering the several beauties with their extraordinary talents, the judges experienced great difficulty in choosing a single group or contestant. Finally, however, they crowned the Heffer Sisters. This fine group consisted of Steve Cline as Dolly Wynette, Kenny Wyatt as Tammy Lynn and Robert Brown as Loretta Parton. Tuscola students are grateful to the FTA for giving these beauties a chance to display their talents.

In Memory of Melissa Ogden

The people of the world are not things to be manipulated but persons to know; not heathen to be converted but persons to be heard; not enemies to be hated;
but persons to be encountered;
not brothers to be kept, but brothers to be brothers.

Tom Harris

I shall know why - when Time is over -
And I have ceased to wonder why -
Christ will explain each separate anguish
In the fair schoolroom of the sky -

He will tell me what "Peter" promised -
And I - for wonder at his woe -
I shall forget the drop of Anguish
That scalds me now - that scalds me now!

Emily Dickinson

Bound - a trouble -
And lives can bear it!
Limit - how deep a bleeding go!
So - many - drops - of vital scarlet -
Deal with the soul
As with Algebra!

Tell it the Ages - to a cypher -
And it will ache - contented - on -
Sing - at its pain - as any Workman -
Notching the fall of the Even Sun!

Emily Dickinson

They dropped like Flakes -
They dropped like Stars -
Like Petals from a Rose -
When suddenly across the June
A wind with fingers - goes -

They perished in the Seamless Grass -
No eye could find the place -
But God can summon every face
On his Repealless - List.

#1 TUSCOLA

Tuscola Marching Mountaineers from Waynesville, North Carolina . . . Division . . . 1! As the Tuscola Band stands and waits for those magical words, they look back and think of all the hard times they went through together. It seemed just a few days ago when they were beginning band camp. There were doubts in the hearts of a few people but the Tuscola Marching Mountaineers proved their excellence with a 98.5 performance. A 98.5 by the band wasn't enough--the speciality corps wanted a "1" also. The flags, rifles, and honor guards earned their 97.5 rating. These were the highest scores at Bristol.

SPECIALTY CORP

Through all the discord and cacophony of evening practices, eventually the Marching Mountaineers attained complete harmony. The 107 musical members and 31 speciality corps members proved their excellence with a superior score of 98.5 at the Southeastern Band Festival.

The band travelled a long but worthwhile trip to Bristol, Tennessee on Friday, October 3. By the time they had arrived at 1:00 a.m. Saturday morning, the tension had risen.

After an invigorating march in the Bristol parade, the majority of the band members enjoyed a well-deserved rest but the dear Sophomores polished brass, tightened drum heads, and made certain all was in readiness for the evening performance. As the rest period drew to a close, the nervous anticipation increased. Following supper, the 138 devoted band members met with Mr. Crocker to discuss the upcoming show.

Upon arrival at the stadium, a little of the tension was eased by watching other bands perform. With programs in their hands, all watched until "Let's go band!" came from a familiar voice. Immediately, the uncertainty of the situation filled the band with fear. Then . . . "Direct your attention to the east end of the field to the Tuscola High School Band from Waynesville, North Carolina, under the direction of Mr. James Crocker and field direction of Miss Pam Reeves." Applause filled the stadium as the show began.

During the show, many members felt as though they were mechanized. When the show was over, the numbness they had felt was replaced with hopeful expectation.

Jacque Culpepper Playing Her Flute

Under the direction of the dynamic, new choral director, Ms. Diane Wade, Tuscola High School now sponsors five unique outlets for the vocally and musically talented of the student body. These five groups offer a choral repetoire which encompasses all facets of the music world from the classical to the contemporary. Sixty young, vital voices combine to form the vibrant sound of the FEMALE CHORUS. THE SUMMIT, a contemporary rock group, performs popular music. THE CHAMBER SINGERS specialize in singing classical music, THE MALE CHORUS members vocalize to produce songs with a contemporary beat, and fifty talented young men and women form the sensational CONCERT CHORUS.

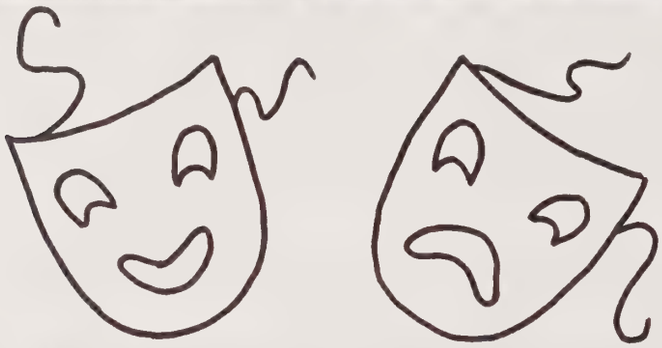
The Great Pretender



On December 7,9,10, and 11 the senior class performed the play "A Man Called Peter." The play is adapted from Catherine Marshall's book of the same title. It depicts part of the life of Peter Marshall and the way in which he affected the people he met. The play begins by showing the relationship between Dr. Marshall and the young people of his church on New York Avenue in Washington. It then shows his relationship with the elders of his church who fail to understand his disregard for the traditions of the church.

The success of the drama department during the last two years is attributed to Mr. Robert La-Claire. In addition to the traditional senior play, he directs one act plays for competition and spring musicals.

This football year at Tuscola began and ended with a big disappointment. In the game with Sylva-Webster every statistic of the game was dominated by Tuscola's Notre Dame Box except for the score, 23-21, and everyone felt that all of the hard preseason work was in vain. The next week was probably the most important game of the season.

Brevard was under a new coach, but was strong and had good backs. The team regrouped from the heartbreaking defeat and defeated the other power-house of the conference 25-23.

The next few games were non-conference and except for Pisgah, which Tuscola won 12-7, they seemed relatively easy.

Erwin came here with blood-in-their-eye and held the number one offence to a scant 6 points and at the half were ahead 7-6. That seemed only to irritate the Mounties and along with the coaches' comments at half-time were stimulated to 34 points in the second half.

Only one team stood in the way of the Mountaineers third consecutive conference championship. The Mountaineers accepted the challenge and defeated East Henderson 12-0.

Tuscola was paired with Mt. Airy in the first round of the play-offs and handily defeated the Granite Bears along with their "premier" running back Joe Ray Moore who was held to his lowest rushing yardage of the season.

In the second round the Mounties were to play rival Pisgah. The powerful Tuscola offense was unable to sustain many drives, but when a drive began to develop, a judgement call by the official would stop it. The two teams fought to a 13-13 tie, but according to the NCHSAA rules, Pisgah won on 19 yards penetration, leaving Tuscola with a 9-2-1 record and many downhearted players.

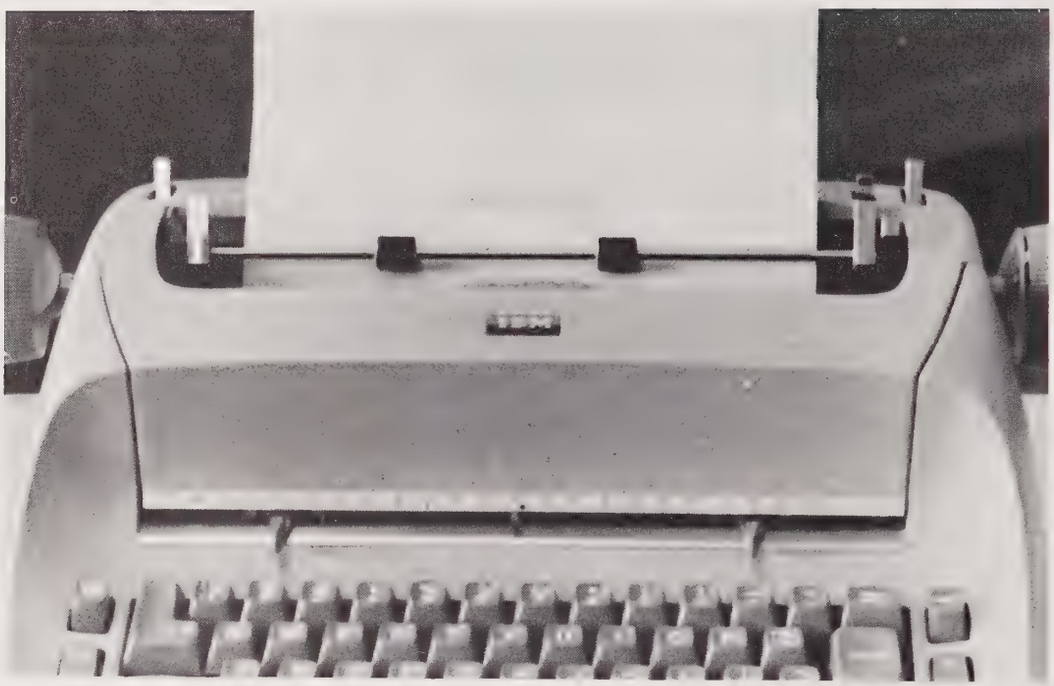
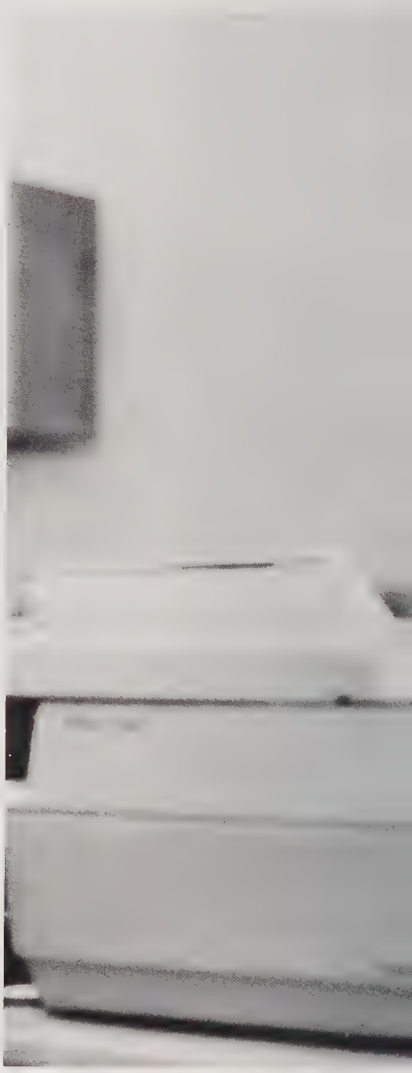
TAKING CARE OF BUSINESS



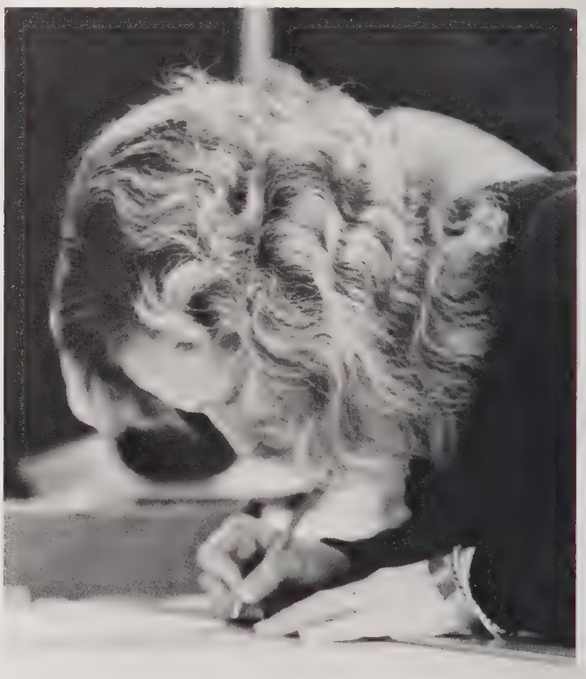


Tuscola's versatile business department offered courses such as Basic Business, Personal Typing, Occupational Typing, Shorthand, Speedwriting, Accounting, Record Keeping, Office Occupations, Business Law and Economics. The knowledge gained in these courses has given us all a better understanding of American business.

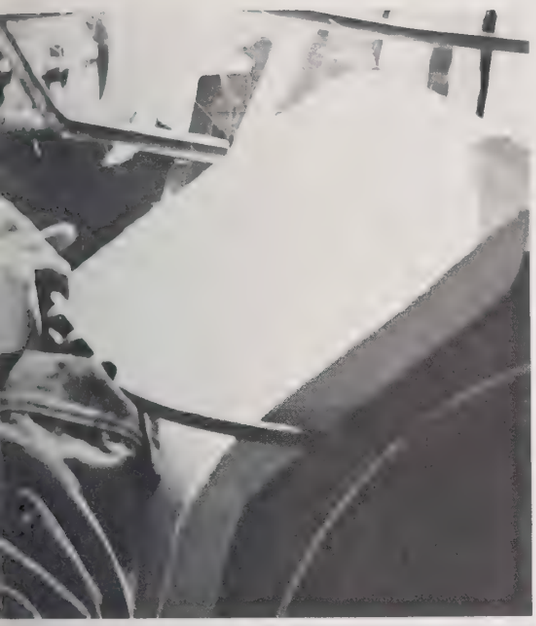
Tuscola's vocational department offers a wide variety of courses for those who plan to go into trades or attend vocational school after graduation. Although designed for these students, any interested person is welcomed and encouraged to participate in vocational courses.

For those who are just beginning a certain field, the department arranges introductory courses in a wide variety of chosen areas.

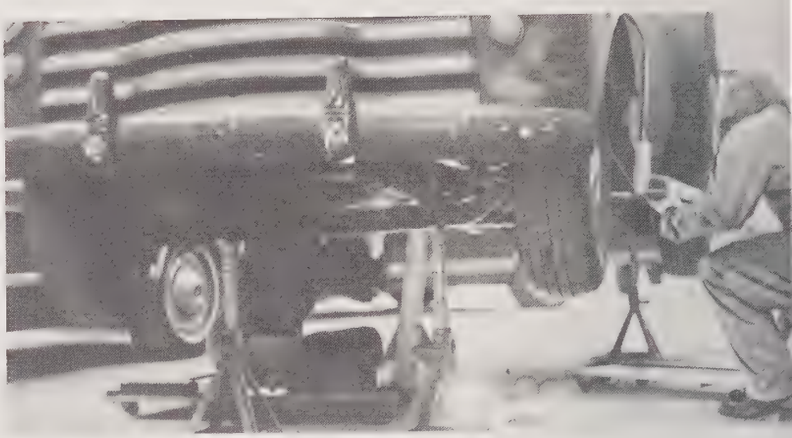
More advanced courses follow the introduction for students who wish to develop a more thorough understanding and ability of their chosen area.

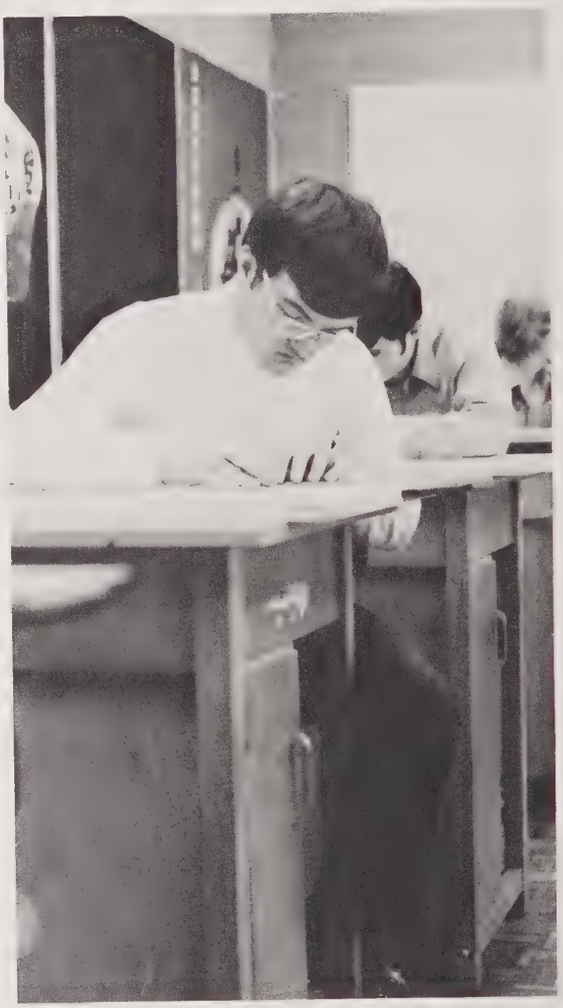


Walking down the halls of the vocational buildings, one can hear the clatter of typewriters or the din of work being done in auto mechanics, carpentry, or welding.



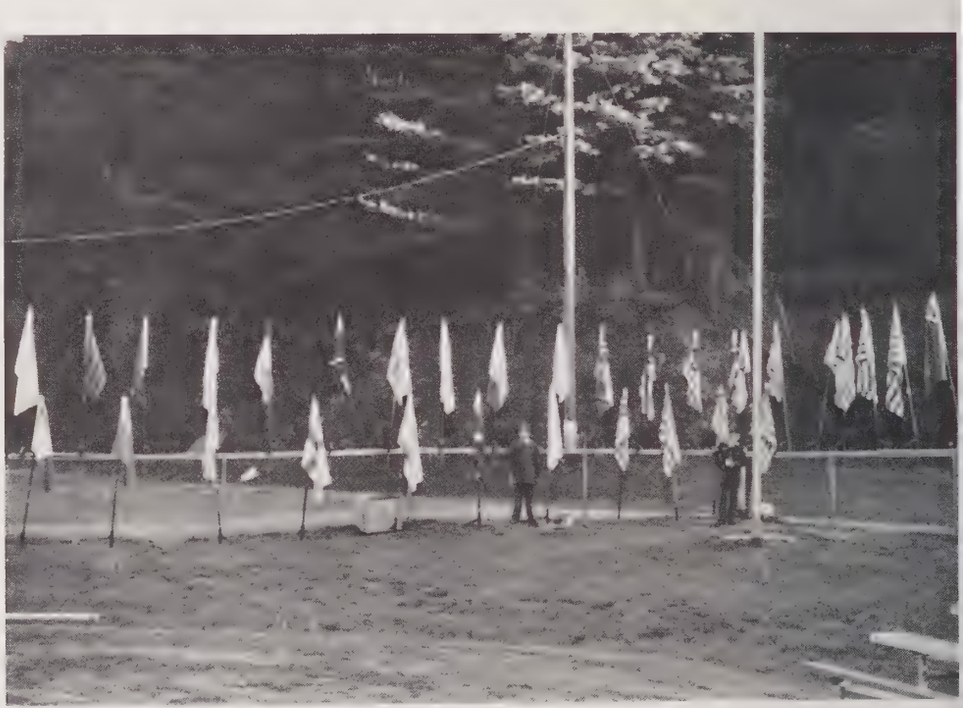
In the quieter classes one can see students experimenting with new hair styles or architectural designs, or perhaps tinkering with engines or circuits.





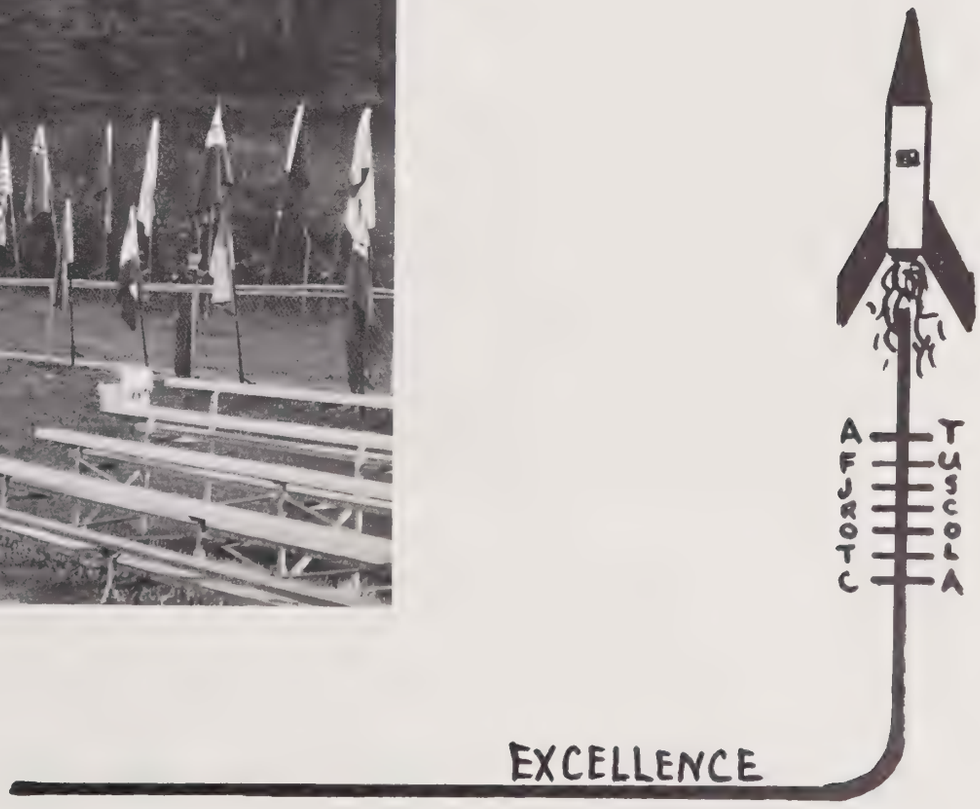
Bricklaying and agricultural classes have left visible proof of their handiwork on campus by their many projects and success in beautifying Tuscola. Everyone is proud of Tuscola's fine vocational department, a vital part of the overall curriculum. Students in this department work in service to the school and in preparation for future service to the community.

AFJROTC

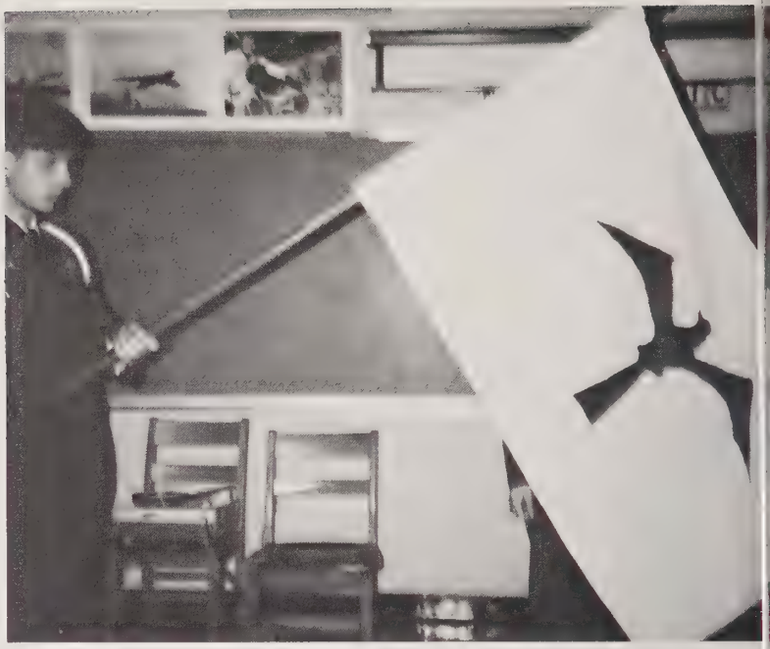


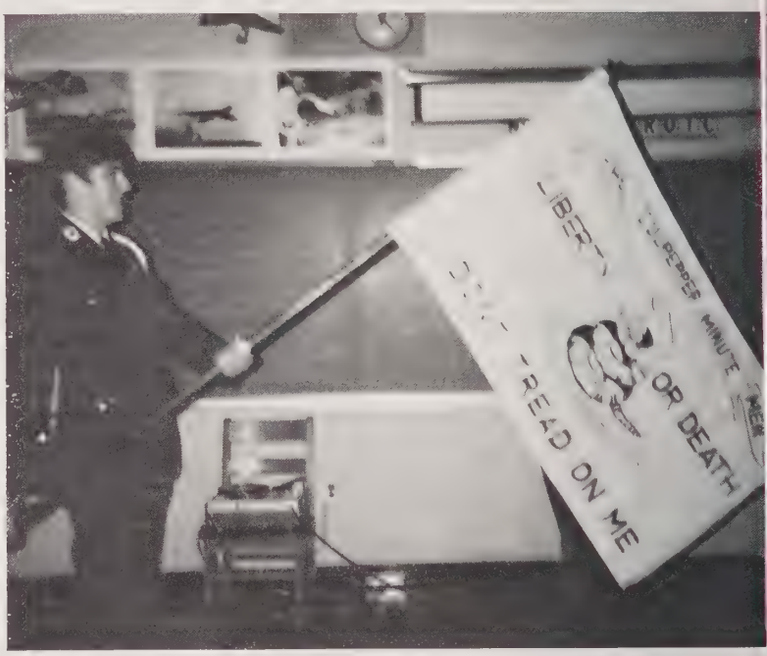
Although a relatively new organization on campus, the Tuscola Air Force Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps is well on its way to becoming one of the most active organizations at Tuscola. The unit demands that each cadet, whether senior, junior, or sophomore, becomes a useful part of the Corps' overall activity.

Each day, a class devoted to learning drill techniques and leadership qualities meets. This group performs flag ceremonies, assists at teachers' meetings, and is always ready and willing to help when called upon for aid.



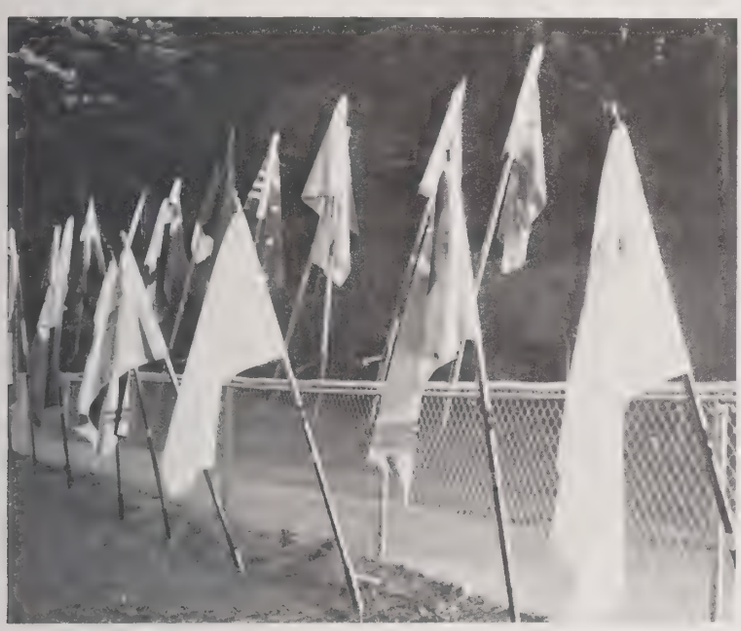
FLAGS . . .





. . . FLAGS

. . . AND MORE FLAGS



The pride and joy of Tuscola's ROTC is their American flag collection, one of the most complete in existence. The sixty-three flags were handmade by cadets, their mothers, and a few Tuscola history students. The flags represent more than 200 years of American history, from colonial days to the present. The flags, which have been photographed by the Air Force and shown to other units throughout the nation, were featured in an American Bicentennial Pageant sponsored by the ROTC in the spring.

"TO ESTABLISH AS A TOTAL PEOPLE"

Officers, L. to R. Greg Wheeler, President, Tempee Wheeler, Secretary, Tommy Williams, Reporter, Dongee Allen, Vice President, Not present Randy Alley, Treasurer.

The Brotherhood Club, established this year with the motto "To establish as a total people", is a club interested in human relations. The club sponsored several activities such as a Brotherhood Week, a Brotherhood Workshop inviting seventeen schools in the Western North Carolina area.

The Brotherhood Club helped to organize a now effective human relation club at Waynesville Jr., High School. This club is advised by Jo Ann Pressley, a teacher at Waynesville Jr. High School.

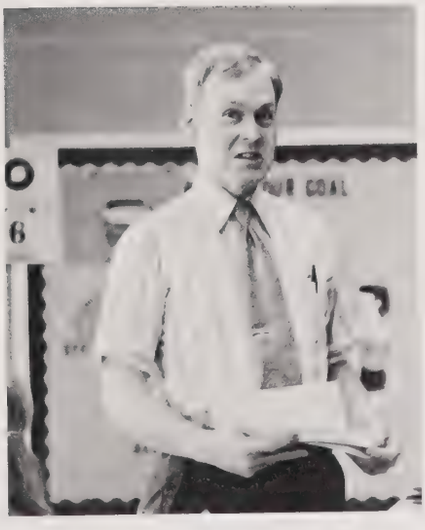
Part of the cultures of the Afro-Americans include their proud heritage of Jazz music and dancing. This was introduced to the schools in two ways. A bulletin board was arranged to show some of the cultures of the black and white people. Also a Black Culture Program was presented to Tuscola High School and several other schools in the area.

The attempts of this club is extended but worthwhile. The effects of this club help in adding in the basic education of students.

KEY CLUB

Key Club is an international service organization sponsored by Kiwanis Club International, and consists of young men who are dedicated in serving their schools and communities. The Tuscola Key Club has performed such service projects as adopting a needy family and providing them with food and clothing, numbering the seats in the auditorium, collecting college catalogs for the Guidance Department, and sponsoring the Bike-A-Thon for the North Carolina Diabetes Association.

KEY CLUB INTERNATIONAL



The Key Club expresses special thanks to Mr. David Head and Mr. Charles Patterson for their patience and co-operation.

Discipline

Throw away thy rod,
Throw away thy wrath:
O my God,
Take the gentle path.

For my heart's desire
Unto thine is bent:
I aspire
To a full consent.

Not a word or look
I affect to own,
But by book,
And thy book alone.

Though I fail, I weep:
Though I halt in pace,
Yet I creep
To the throne of grace.

Then let wrath remove;
Love will do the deed:
For with love
Stony hearts will bleed.

Love is swift of foot;
Love's a man of war,
And can shoot,
And can hit from far.

Who can 'scape his bow?
That which wrought on thee,
Brought thee low,
Needs must work on me.

Throw away thy rod;
Though man frailties hath,
Thou art God:
Throw away thy wrath.

To every thing there is a season,
and a time to every purpose under
the heaven:
A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;
A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

We are born into Tuscola as sophomores and we die as seniors.
We plant our seeds of knowledge and then pluck up and harvest in life that which was planted in high school.
We try to kill our sins and prejudices as we heal and forgive our wounds and transgressors.
We break down our plans and goals for life as we build our daily schedules.
We weep at our defeat and heartaches.
We laugh true laughter like children at play.
We mourn at the loss of loved ones.
We dance with the music of our high school days.
We cast away stones and pick and choose as we decide and gather our bricks of life for building.
We embrace with the emotions of our puppy loves, and then refrain when the appropriate time approaches.
We are always seeking for the meaning of life. Sometimes we win easily, and sometimes we lose.
Memories we keep, sadness we cast away, for these are the happy days of growing up. Three years pass by and we rend and sew. We learn when to speak and when to hold in silence idle gossip. We learn to love and that there is hate. We learn of wars and by the hard way-wish there was peace.

And then we are gone, and it is someone else's time.

We hope we have captured a moment of "your time" in Tuscola. Doing this was a difficult task as time is abstract and paper and layouts are concrete. Many thanks go to many people, for without them this picture of time would not be complete.
